Engineer's drainage study eyes Hancock flood woes

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors has received a report on a drainage study that may help alleviate flooding in parts of Hancock County.

Michael Smith of Advanced Development, Inc., presented a report on the study to the board Monday.

The study results have been approved for final printing by Bureau of Marine Resources and should be ready for distribution to the supervisors next week, Smith said.

He told the board that the report not only identifies existing conditions but also details all drainage structures needed in the area studied, which is roughly bordered by Bayou Cadet, Devil's Swamp, Bayou Phillips and Bayou LaCroix.

Smith said that the developable land in Bay St. Louis could be increased by 75 percent and doubled in the rest of the area studied.

In addition, the study details an overall master drainage plan, which should increase the county's ability to obtain federal funding.

Phases included are clearing and minor excavation of existing structures, changing culverts where blockages exist in particular areas and long-term projects like large excavations and construction of concrete-paved ditches in developed areas.

Smith said he believes the most efficient way to obtain funding and implement the project is for the county to establish its own soil conservation district.

He said it may also be possible for the county to coordinate the project with training for the U.S. Navy Construction Battalion, thereby obtaining some assistance with the actual excavation and construction.

County to request bill for building code vote

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors plans to ask the Mississippi Legislature to allow the voters to decide whether the county should have a building code.

After hearing several complaints about a lack of a building code from representatives of Bayou Phillips, Clermont Harbor and Shoreline Park Monday, Beat One Supervisor Bert Courreges asked the board to request a local and private bill.

"The bill would allow the building code issue to be placed on the next election ballot without the usual procedure," Board Attorney Walter Gex III said.

The usual procedure for putting a referendum on the ballot requires a resolution of intent by the board and a petition against the intended action by 2,500 voters or 10 percent of the registered voters in the county, whichever is less.

Gex said the board can either attempt to initiate a change in the state statutes covering referendum procedures or try to obtain the local and private bill.

The board voted unanimously to approve Courreges' motion after Beat Four Supervisor Sam Perinclaro seconded.

"I guarantee you that if you can get an election, the people will vote against it," added Board President and Beat Two Supervisor A.A. Kellar. "People don't want to be forced to do anything."

Kellar has stated on several occasions, however, that he feels the people ought to be allowed to decide.

Gex said he feels having a building code will do nothing to alleviate the problems that led to citizen requests unless it can be enforced.

Donn Murray, building inspector for the County Planning Commission, said he sees efforts to bring the issue to a vote as progress.

The commission has recommended several times that the county adopt a modified version of the Southern Standard Building Code that is used in several municipalities along the Gulf Coast.

He said the board's action Monday would have no effect on the commission's efforts concerning a building code.

At present, the commission is awaiting a state attorney general's opinion on whether a piecemeal code can be enacted for parts of the county.

If that opinion states that a piecemeal code is legal, the commission will make a "study" of areas where the code should be effective.

Gex said he feels having a building code will do nothing to alleviate the problems that led to citizen requests unless it can be enforced.

Green recommended

BY DENA BISNETTE

Because only one candidate has qualified, the Beat Four Constable race will be taken off the November special election ballot.

William Joseph Green is the only candidate who qualified to run for the office, vacated by the death of William Carbonette and currently filled by Johnny Favre, a temporary appointee named by the board of supervisors.

The board agreed Monday to recommend that Green receive a governor's commission for the post, in keeping with state law.

Green will take over his duties as constable as soon as the commission is received.

Phase II engine testing to begin at NSTL

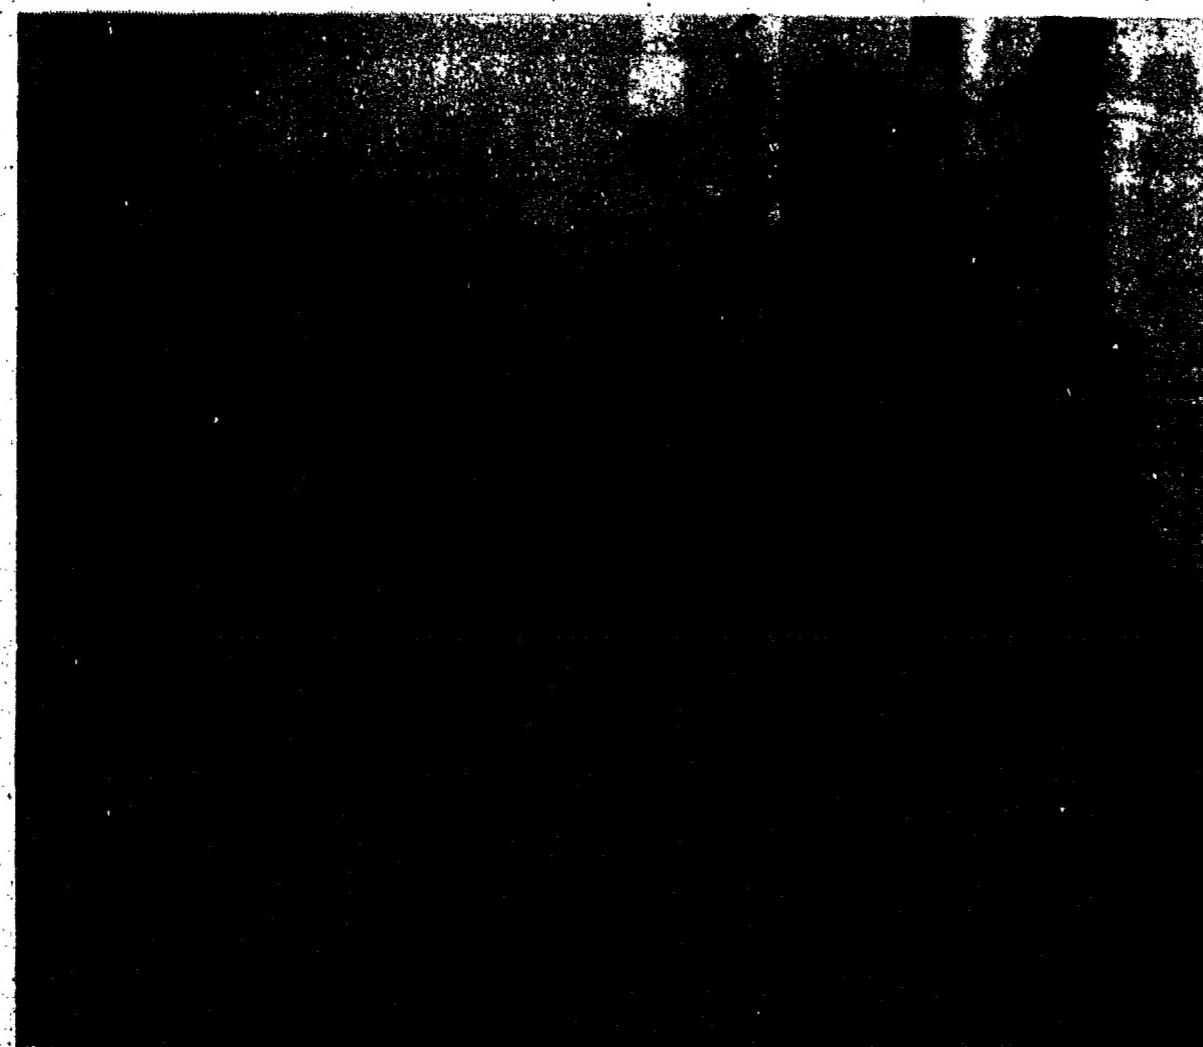

BY BRENDA HEATHCOCK

Testing of the Phase II space shuttle main engines will begin soon at National Space Technology Laboratories.

The first of these engines arrived Monday at the Shuttle Engine Test Site at NSTL.

"The Phase II engine is upgraded from the Phase I engines to be more maintenance-free and to extend the life expectancy of the high pressure combustion chamber," said President Michael J. McNeel of the Huntsville project of NASA.

The Phase II engines will be used for the space shuttle's orbital maneuvering system.

begin Monday, Oct. 14.

"Persons with delinquent fines can come in and pay these during this time and avoid the $40-$50 charge which could be assessed against overdue fines," Murphy said.

Murphy told the council that nearly $80,000 was owed to the city in fines ranging from $5 to $1,271 owed twice by the same person.

"Sixty thousand dollars is a lot of money and the city can surely use the funds," Murphy said.

Of these fines $35,389 are still active and on file as outstanding as of Oct. 4, he added.

According to Murphy fines totaling $23,686 were passed to the files by the previous administration.

Murphy said the city attorney had told him it was still possible to collect the fines that were "passed to the files."

"We are going to focus on the major violators who owe large amounts of money," Murphy said.

Murphy also said that letters were being mailed to each person with a delinquent fine to inform them of the amnesty period and requesting payments or arrangements for paying the fine.

Following the amnesty period, Murphy said a warrant may be issued for the arrest of each person with delinquent fines.

"If the jail becomes overcrowded we will put them in the lunchroom or the gym," Murphy said.

There are several habitual offenders who have been ticketed several times, he said.

"It is a slap in the face of the police department and the municipal court system for these offenders to go unpunished," Murphy added.

Husband arrested in McNeal death

BY DENA BISNETTE

Jackson County authorities have arrested the husband of former Bay St. Louis resident Darlene McNeal and have charged him with murder in connection with her death.

Jackson County Sheriff Wallace Gill said Wednesday that Donald McNeal had been arrested Tuesday morning at his residence in the Gulf Park Estates subdivision east of Ocean Springs.

McNeal is being held on $300,000 bond at the Jackson County Adult Detention Center.

Mrs. McNeal was found last Wednesday near a shell road off Interstate 10 in St. Tammany Parish, La., about 1.5 miles from the Hancock-St. Tammany line.

She had last been seen alive on Saturday, Sept. 28. Her family had reported her missing at the Hancock County Sheriff's Department on Oct. 1.

Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson said he received a call from St. Tammany authorities about the body while Mrs. McNeal's mother was filing the missing person report.

On the same day, the dead woman's husband filed a missing person report with Gill's office.

Mrs. McNeal had been shot in the side of the head and had been dead

High School football moves into the second half of the season Friday night with all local teams in action.

The Tigers of Bay High will place their unbeaten record of the season on the line when they will play Long Beach for the Bearcats homecoming.

Long Beach always gives the Tigers a good game and they are also in a different class than Bay High.

Head Coach Cleveland Williams and his Tigers will need a lot of fan support in Long Beach on Friday.

Hancock North Central's Hawks will travel to St. Martin Friday to visit the Yellow Jackets.

The Hawks showed some power last week in a 32-7 victory over the St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws. If Head Coach Irvin Favre's Hawks play the same way this week, they should again be victorious.

St. Stanislaus will be trying to regroup Friday night when they visit Pearl River Central.

The Rock-A-Chaws should be ready for the Blue Devils, but Head Coach Vernon Powell will have to get an extra team effort to win.

It will be homecoming for the Pirates of Pass Christian Friday.

The Pirates are rebuilding this season and Head Coach Alton Wright's Pass squad could bring home a homecoming victory over the East Central Hornets who were shut out by the Bay High Tigers last week.

The Pirates should not take the Hornets too lightly, because they may feel the sting of another defeat.

Remember, kick-offs are at 7:30 p.m., and your favorite high school football team needs good fan support.

We have been reading quite a few stories lately about the elimination of the caboose on freight trains and the replacement of them with an electronic box.

The 'box' is supposed to monitor everything happening with the cars of the train as it travels, according to articles we have read.

These messages are supposedly being read by someone at the front of the train.

We have noted several of these 'boxes' in recent months on some of the Seaboard freights through Bay St. Louis.

On Monday night we were at the Second Street crossing when a long freight passed at around 7:30 p.m.

An interesting observation we made was the fact that the red light was not working, and that 'box' we feel should have indicators in it passing messages to the front of the train that the signal is not operating.

Of course the train was traveling so fast through Bay St. Louis, it probably would not have had a problem in being caught up behind by another train, and would have only possibly had problems if it stopped along the way.

On Saturday and Sunday Our Lady Academy's International Food Festival will be held at US-90 and Beach Boulevard in Bay St. Louis.

Live entertainment will be at the festival in addition to an array of foods favorites from many nations.

Cajun, Seafood, Oriental, French, American, Swedish, Mexican, and Italian favorites will be among the foods available.

Portions will be $1 each, and admission to the festival will be free.

Events get underway at noon on Saturday and Sunday.

On Tuesday, Oct. 15, at 5:30 and 8 p.m. Roller Brothers Circus will be appearing at the Hancock County Fairgrounds, Longfellow Road.

The circus is sponsored by the Hancock County Exchange Club, which is one of the newer organizations in the county.

The event is one which should be enjoyed by persons of all ages.

A 20 per cent savings can be had by advance tickets before the event from Exchange Club members. For ticket information call 467-6501.

Eyes on Mississippi

by

JACKSON—Buoyed by what they see as the strong discontent of Delta farmers with Reagan administration farm policies, Mississippi Democrats are gearing up for an all-out assault next year to unseat Republican Rep. Webb Franklin in the Second Congressional District.

Franklin held on to his seat last year while clinging to President Reagan's coattails in the Mississippi landslide that saw Reagan sweep the white farm vote in the Delta despite increasing signs that the agricultural area was in economic trouble.

Now the situation of the Delta farmer has become so desperate that there is a growing demand for political relief from administration policies. Evidently Franklin, attempting to support Reagan's idea of cutting subsidies, has found himself in hot water with some of the leading agricultural interests in the Delta.

In any case, Franklin is expected to be made a top target next year of the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee, which will mean that whoever carries the state Democratic banner can expect maximum financing from the committee.

The major question for state Democrats right now is whether or not they will put up another black candidate to try to win back the Delta seat after two close, but failing, attempts by State Rep. Robert Clark of Ebenezer to whip Franklin in 1982 and 1984.

Clark is definitely out of the next race following his second disappointing bid, even after the district had been given what was thought to be a 53 percent black voting age majority by the federal court.

The percentages, however, were based on the 1980 census, which many blacks contend does not reflect the present population because of black out-migration from the Delta.

Certain black political activists, in the wake of Clark's 1984 defeat, believe that a progressive white Democrat may be their only hope to unseat Franklin and put the seat back in Democratic hands, until the second is redistricted after the 1990 census with a stronger black edge.

Pete Johnson, a 37-year-old Clarksdale investment consultant whose uncle, Gov. Paul B. Johnson Jr. was elected because he stood in the schoolhouse door at Ole Miss, has emerged as a strong white favorite of some influential black leaders.

Johnson had run in the second District Democratic primary against Clark in 1982, then actively supported Clark in the general election that year.

Again in Clark's 1984 race, Johnson had openly campaigned for the black state lawmaker and staged Clark fund-raisers in his Clarksdale home. Consequently, Clark is believed to feel a personal commitment to back Johnson next year.

Others believed in Johnson's camp are David Jordan, the leader of the Greenwood Voters League, and James Fleggs, chairman of the Quitman county school board and a member of the state Democratic Executive Committee.

Recently Johnson has held several meetings to enlist black activists in behalf of his campaign, with some apparent success.

This week, Johnson was slated to attend the Democratic Gala in Washington, D.C. with Clarksdale attorney Walter Thompson who is a member of the Democratic Finance Council, and Johnson's closest political and financial adviser. In Washington, Johnson was to make the round of Democratic and political action groups seeking to line up financial backing.

But also bidding for the role of the White progressive Democratic blacks can support is State Sen. Ken Harper, the 38-year-old Vicksburg attorney and businessman who had pulled a major upset two years ago in unseating veteran Warren County State Sen. Ellis Bodron.

Several months ago Harper advanced the theory that no Democrat can win in the second District without Warren County because of its heavy black and white vote and its location at the lower end of the district.

Harper apparently convinced some Democrats he was positioned as the best available white candidate to try to win back the Delta seat after two close, but failing, attempts by State Rep. Robert Clark of Ebenezer to whip Franklin in 1982 and 1984.

Humane Society founders resign

Oct. 5, 1985

The Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Dear Sir:

Along with Mrs. Clifford Backlund, founder and past president of the Hancock County Humane Society, Inc., many of us who were long-term members have resigned due to extreme pressure from a small group in the society.

As well as serving as treasurer and secretary, I was a field worker during much of my nine-year period with the society.

Field work is the heart and soul of humane society work.

Ex-presidents a big expense to the taxpayer

Oct. 5, 1985
Sea Coast Echo
Letter to the Editor

Dear Sir:

The federal deficit could be cut down considerably if our government would cut down on some of the expenses of ex-presidents.

Nixon, Ford and Carter each receive a pension of $82,438. Ladybird Johnson gets $20,000 a year.

Each one, with the exception of Mrs. Johnson, spent $9,000 on stamps.

Ford spent $21,075. Nixon $11,470 and Carter only $1,187 on travel.

Ford's phone bill was $30,281. Nixon's $20,704 and Carter's was $21,589.

$14 million goes yearly to keep up presidential libraries.

$10.5 million goes for protection. It was almost $12 million a year, but ex-president Nixon gave up his protection, Mrs. Truman passed away and Amy Carter turned 16.

Altogether, three ex-presidents cost our government $26 million a year.

This does not include anything Jackie Kennedy Onassis may receive.

All of this information was in the newspaper U.S.A. Today.

In closing I just have this to say, "Mamas, don't raise your boys up to be cowboys, raise them to be ex-presidents."

Respectfully,
Nina S. Garcia

The apple, that luscious fruit which first tempted Eve in the Garden of Eden at the dawn of time, has down through the ages been a favorite food.

Apples and America grew up together, and gave rise to the saying "As American as apple pie." Apples are symbolic of our American hospitality, from the days when the early colonists raised their mugs of apple cider in a toast at the tavern, to hot apple pie and cheese, to an apple for the teacher, and on and on.

As if anyone need be told, apples are at their peak right now, in the new apple season. I wish that I could bottle the heavenly aroma of Apples a-baking; and, a bowl of apples on a freshly waxed dining table give a wonderful mingling of scents and hospitality to the whole house, I think.

Nothing quite heralds fall so well as the fragrance of newly harvested apples at the peak of the season—and, oh how many ways there are to enjoy apples, from munching them to salads to main dishes to desserts, all around the clock.

The Pennsylvania Dutch country folk have a special knack with apple dishes, from their famed Apple Pandowdy to their combinations of apples with sausage or other meat dishes. It's quite a treat to wander through the farmer's markets in this region, with the delectable aromas and tantalizing displays of foods.

So here's:

APPLE PANDOWDY
4 large tart apples
1/2 cup molasses
3 Tbsp. butter or margarine
1 tsp. cinnamon

Your favorite biscuit dough
Pare, core and slice the apples, and arrange in a buttered baking dish (shallow). Sprinkle the cinnamon over, dribble the molasses over the apples, and dot with the butter.

Cover with biscuit dough rolled approximately a half inch thick. Slash the dough in several spots. Bake at 375 degrees for 30 minutes. Serve with cream. (Four servings.)

For an even easier version, substitute buttered fingers (strips) of bread for the biscuit dough. Line a baking pan, sides and bottom, with fingers of bread dipped in melted butter. Fill in the center with the apples, as above, top the whole with more buttered bread fingers, and bake for an hour in a 350 degree oven. (Four servings.)

And, on a brisk fall morning, saute apple slices or rings in bacon or sausage drippings, or cook them along with the meat, and cook up grits to go along with this. Enjoy!

School Board to eye building program

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County School Board plans a special meeting later this month to discuss the district's long-range building program.

The school board agreed to call the meeting Monday after being addressed by a parent concerned about how the district will house kindergarten students.

Frank Miller, who has a child at Gulfview Elementary School in Lakeshore, told the board he is concerned about the status of kindergartens because he feels there is no room at Gulfview.

State Representative Walter Phillips, substituting for Board Attorney Joseph Gex Jr., told Miller that kindergarten is scheduled to begin next year, according to the Educational Reform Act of 1982, but will probably not be implemented in all districts.

He said much of the state funding originally earmarked for the project has been diverted to the State Highway Department or other agencies.

Board President Billie Faye Lyons said Charles B. Murphy Elementary School at Pearlington is the only school in the district with room for kindergartens, but restrooms would have to be added inside the classrooms to be used to comply with state regulations.

She said the district's main concern presently is completion of a six-classroom addition to Gulfview, which will allow students presently housed at Clermont Harbor School to return to the main campus.

A sewerage problem at Clermont Harbor prevents continued use of the facility. The State Board of Health put the district on notice about the matter a year ago, Lyons said.

The district has not had the problem repaired because continued use of Clermont Harbor School necessitates transporting children back and forth to Gulfview, and because Clermont Harbor has no cafeteria facilities.

Miller also asked about the status of board discussions on the possibility of building a new, centrally located school for grades seven through 12.

Lyons said that will be discussed at the special meeting.

The board meets again at 6:30 p.m. Monday, Oct. 21.

Supervisors seek meeting with medical center architect

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors plans to meet with a representative of the architectural firm that designed Hancock Medical Center within the next few days to discuss a drainage problem.

The supervisors say they are concerned because soil on the medical center site is saturated with water after recent rains and the wet conditions are holding up work.

Hospital Administrator Phillip Langston told board members that he would try to set up the meeting for Monday or Friday.

The board originally expected to be able to discuss the problem Wednesday morning, following a Tuesday night meeting of the Hancock General Hospital Board of Trustees with a representative of Gresham, Smith and Partners, the architectural firm.

According to Beat Three Supervisor Roger Dale Ladner, who attended the Tuesday hospital board meeting, the soil tests made prior to construction did not indicate that the site would hold water.

"It's just like a sponge. We've had unusually heavy rains lately and it would take about six weeks for it to dry out, if it didn't rain again," Ladner said.

The board hopes to find another solution to the matter because the county is losing about $1,000 per day of work missed in interest on industrial revenue bonds for the project.

In addition, the contractor, Buck's Inc. and Claude Hogan of Waveland must be paid $600 per working day whether work can continue or not.

Alternatives informally discussed include digging drainage ditches on the property and filling them with granular material like sand or gravel to draw moisture off the site.

Ladner says that the proposal could add about $28,000 to the project cost, currently estimated at $5 million, but can not be guaranteed to work.

ETV Brief

WRIGHT PROFILED

"Uncommon Places: The Architecture of Frank Lloyd Wright" traces the life and work of America's most famous architect at 9 p.m., Wednesday, Oct. 16, on Mississippi ETV.

The documentary presents some of Wright's best-known buildings as well as interviews with persons who knew the controversial artist who designed them.

The buildings shown in the program include Falling Water, a place where "man and nature interlock"; the Dana House, a perfectly preserved masterpiece of prairie architecture; Unity Temple, a structure where walls seem to disappear; and Taliesin, a place of haunting beauty.

Producer and writer Dave Iverson, who also narrated the program, spent months researching Wright's life and work. There was no lack of material. Many books have been written about the controversial architect.

Iverson was also fortunate in being located near Wright's northern home, Taliesin, providing access to many area people who remembered Wright.

The Rev. Max Gaehler, a longtime Wright friend who conducted Wright's funeral, was one of many who were able to shed light on Wright's personality.

Iverson also had access to exclusive interviews with Wright's widow, Olgivanna, taped several years earlier by executive producer Carol Cotter. Mrs. Wright died earlier this year.

There are three Frank Lloyd Wright sites in Mississippi: one in Jackson and two in Ocean Springs.

for several days when found. She was identified through fingerprints and dental records.

Mrs. McNeal was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P.J. Collier and sister of T.J. Collier, all of Bay St. Louis.

Gill would not confirm reports that McNeal and his wife had been having domestic problems shortly before she disappeared, or that McNeal was discovered removing carpeting from his home after his wife was reported missing.

The sheriff said he felt such information should not be discussed while the investigation is continuing.

He did, however, state that the murder is believed to have occurred in or near the McNeal residence and said evidence gathered from the site has been turned over to Mississippi Crime Laboratory in Jackson for analysis.

Gill added that the McNeal's two-year-old daughter is staying with relatives in West Virginia, where she was taken by her father before his arrest.

Peterson said that McNeal was apparently taking his daughter to West Virginia at the time funeral arrangements for Mrs. McNeal were being made because his whereabouts at that time were unknown.

Because McNeal could not be found at the time, a court order to allow burial was obtained from Judge William Stewart.

The investigation is continuing in Jackson County with assistance from the Mississippi Highway Patrol and St. Tammany authorities, Gill said.

Fines.....

"At this time the judge could issue a bench warrant for all persons with delinquent fines, but we would overload the court's capability," he said.

Some of the fines date back to 1982, but most were issued in 1984 and 1985, Murphy said.

"Last year only about $12,000 was collected of the $50,000 in fines issued," he said.

Murphy told the board, his department is in the process of checking their records to insure that there is a valid ticket or warrant for each fine card and that all payments have been properly posted to the fine cards.

The list of charges in connection with delinquent fines ranged from moving violations including illegal parking, running a stop sign, reckless driving, speeding, to non-moving violations of assault and battery, petty larceny, indecent exposure and public drunk.

Persons owing delinquent fines should contact City Court Clerk Sandy Schafer or Bay St. Louis City Clerk Edward Favre.

Hancock School Board seeks help with lice problem

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County School Board hopes to alleviate a problem with head lice by bringing in a County Health Department instructor to train school personnel to detect the condition.

The board agreed Monday to allow Maxine DeRocha of the Hancock County Health Department to set up classes for school nurses and possibly some teacher aides at Gulfview Elementary School in Lakeshore, Hancock North Central in Kiln and Charles B. Murphy Elementary School in Pearl River.

DeRocha will demonstrate procedures for detecting head lice and will provide information on treatments available.

Superintendent of Education Terrell Randolph said the lice have become an annual problem at the school, with most cases reported in fall and spring.

The school district does not have a treatment program and presently sends children with lice infestations home to allow parents to treat them with either over-the-counter or prescription products.

To prevent the spread of the parasite, the schools refuse to readmit children until the infestations are cured.

DeRocha said the lice do not spread by jumping from head to head as is popularly believed, but instead are spread through contact with infested clothing, combs and other articles shared by children and through actual head-to-head contact.

She said children apparently tend to congregate more during the seasons when most cases are found, since lice are not a seasonal parasite.

She added that the health department may be able to further assist the schools by providing printed information on infestation and treatment for distribution to parents of children with lice problems.

The board agreed to allow DeRocha to help train school personnel after receiving complaints from the parents of several Gulfview students.

Diane Nixon, who has four children attending Hancock County schools with three at Gulfview, said parents want to help with the problem.

She feels that the two school nurses, who alternate days at each of the three campuses, have too many children to examine each day to detect all lice cases.

Randolph said there have been days when the nurses have checked as many as 600 children per day.

Nixon said she has had particular problem with her elementary school children and said her children have been examined and declared free of lice at school on several occasions when she has detected the problem at home on the same day.

A second parent, Marilyn DeFatia, expressed concern about absences caused by lice problems.

Randolph said the absences are considered absences for a health problem and are therefore excused.

Both were also concerned because they have gotten poor results with over-the-counter products for lice control and have had to use a prescription remedy that can be toxic if used repeatedly.

In other business Monday, the board:

Approved purchase of two double-classroom trailers from Stribling Equipment for $41,762 to replace storm-damaged classrooms;

Approved several recommendations from the county forester on sale of salvage timber and control of trash dumping on 16th section land;

Approved several personnel matters;

Approved travel for several faculty members and administrators attending conferences and workshops; and Approved a request to advertise for bids for new band uniforms for Hancock North Central.

The board meets again at 6:30 p.m. Monday, Oct. 21.

Jason Loiacano scores three goals in Bay Area Youth Soccer season opener

Under-8 and Under-10 boys teams in Bay Area Youth Soccer League Saturday opened the 1985 fall season in action at Waveland Elementary Field and King's Point Soccer Field in Slidell, La.

The Under-8 and Under-10 teams will play season openers this week at Waveland Civic Center Field and Bay High Field.

In addition in the Under-10 Division, Take-One Video, coached by Bernard Tusa, Saturday scrimmaged ed Marco Builders, coached by Bob Keenan. Take-One defeated Marco 4-1.

UNDER-12 The U-12 season began Saturday with two games.

The first game at Waveland Elementary Field, featured Bernard Construction Knights, coached by Roselin Watson, against CPC Design Build Panthers, coached by Curtis Colson. These two teams fought a hard battle to end the game with a scoreless tie.

Kendall Daniels scored on a penalty kick for Demboski's team in the Coaches named Mickey Quinlan as most valuable player for the Panthers.

MUPs for the Knights are Scott Emmel and Beau Schindler.

The second Under-12 game, also at Waveland Elementary, was played Saturday afternoon featuring Loiacano's Health Club, coached by Chip Merrigan, against Tom Demboski's team. Loiacano's defeated Demboski 4-1.

Rocks out to avenge Bowl loss

Seeking to avenge a heart-breaking 20-14 loss to Pearl River Central in last year's Wendell Ladner

Bowl, the St. Stanislaus Rockchaws will travel to Carriere this Friday to take on the PRC Blue Devils. Kickoff is set for 7:30 p.m.

The major concern of SSC Head Coach Vernon Powell is to get the offense moving and control the football. In their last two ballgames, the Rocks have scored only one touchdown.

"Defensively, we have got to lock our arms around the ball carrier when we tackle him. We've given up too many yards after we have made initial contact near the line of scrimmage, only to have the ball carrier break free because we did not lock our arms around him," commented Coach Powell.

Pearl River Central under Head Coach David Oakes began the season with three consecutive losses to Poplarville, Hancock North Central and Bay High, but in the subsequent two weeks has rebounded with wins over Stone and Vancleave. A win against the Rocks Friday would even their season record at 3-3.

"We seem to be missing that one small ingredient which will turn things around for us," said Coach Powell. "Our team attitude has improved. We are moving some people around. We are sitting at 2-2, and are looking forward to having everything click this week against Pearl River."

PRC features a wishbone attack with straight-ahead, power football. Oakes believes in matching strength against strength, with most of their running plays directly into the heart of the line. The Blue Devils are led by quarterback Cedric Tillman,

Tigers to face 4-A school

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Bay St. Louis High School Tigers travel to Long Beach Friday for this season's first game against a larger school.

Bay High is classified as a 3-A school and Long Beach, with a larger student population and a larger football team, is a 4-A.

The Tigers, with a 5-0 record and the 1985 Deep South Conference and District VIII titles, have increased their practice time in preparation for the homecoming Long Beach Bearcats, according to Head Coach Cleveland Williams.

"We are putting in longer hours to make sure we have covered everything the Bearcats would possibly do," the coach said.

He said he feels that Long Beach will play harder than usual for their homecoming game and expects a lot of hard hitting Friday night.

In addition, the Tiger defense will have to be ready for one of the most outstanding running backs the Nasty Bunch has faced all year.

"Long Beach running back Robert Taylor has gained over 100 yards per ball game. We know he's not the ball club but we respect his ability to run the ball," Williams said.

Williams hopes the Tigers will be able to stop Taylor with some of the defensive tactics that have held two opponents this season to yardage deficits.

In both those games, which included Pass Christian and Vancleave, the only yardage gains against the Tigers were on pass plays.

Pass Christian's two-yard deficit included a gain of 25 yards passing cancelled out by a loss of 27 yards on the ground. Vancleave gained six yards passing but lost 19 running.

However, Williams added that Bay High will have to be ready for a balanced attack because the Long Beach quarterback has more than one talent.

"He can throw well, plus he is a scrambler," the coach explained.

"The Tiger ball club hasn't finished the season with the conference title. It's just beginning because of all the larger schools we have to play now."

"We are expecting a lot more competition until the season is over."

Williams said he does not plan any major changes for Bay High despite the tougher schedule.

"We're not going to do anything different. We are going back to the basic things that have brought us this far."

"We are playing better ball each week and improving on offense each day. We still have a lot to do defensively because of the injuries we sustained in last week's game."

Williams said probable offensive starters against Long Beach will include Butch Pierce, Trace McRaney, Geja Carter, Craig Breland, Greg Necaise, Dennis Dear, Stacey McRaney, Matt Fairconnette, Louis Burton and Quentin Bell.

Defensive starters are expected to include Trace McRaney, Stacey McRaney, Carter, Jerry Island, Burton, Breland, Necaise, Dear, Fairconnette and Jessie Parker.

Game time is 7:30 at Long Beach High School.

Most Valuable Player selections announced

BY EDGAR PEREZ

Most valuable player selections from among Hancock County high school football players this week include David Williams of St. Stanislaus who recovered a fumble in the Hancock North Central end zone for the Rocks' only touchdown of the ball game. Williams took the SSC offensive honors.

Key tackles to stop potential big gains by the Hawks are credited to George Stills who is cited as the Rockchaw defensive MVP this week.

In the Hawks' 32-7 victory over SSC, Norris Chaisson, HNC's offensive left tackle, "...did a good job all night opening holes—two Hawk touchdown runs came through his area," judges stated in awarding the Hancock offensive MVP honors.

Hawk outside linebacker Jake Dupree took HNC defensive honors based on four unassisted tackles, four assists and four quarterback sacks.

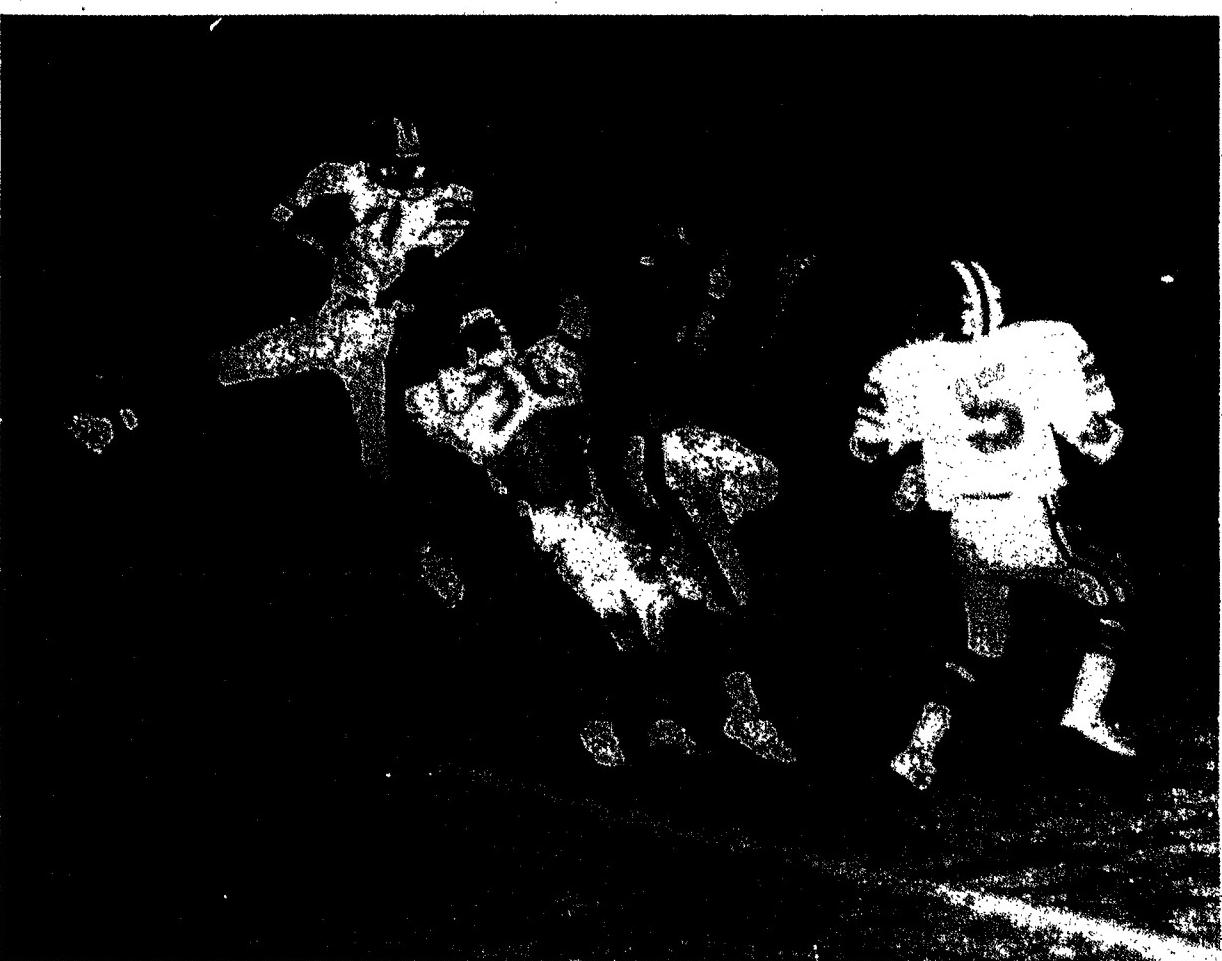

Undefeated Bay High's Aaron Whavers "...took up the slack when Willie Lewis was out of action—Aaron showed good running ability and scored two touchdowns," judges commented in making the Bay High offensive MVP award.

Defensive MVP for Bay High is Trace McRaney who is credited with 19 assisted tackles, four unassisted and a quarterback sack.

Raiders post third win

Coast Episcopal High School Raiders won Saturday against the Bethel Baptist Wildcats from Lucedale in overtime play 22 to 20.

CEHS faced stiff competition from Bethel Baptist. The Wildcats scored first when Jeff Belaski recovered a CEHS fumble and ran it in from the five-yard line.

The PAT was no good.

CEHS could muster no offensive and the first quarter ended with Bethel ahead 6 to 0.

CEHS opened the second quarter play aggressively and Dylan Langdon scored on a seven-yard run around the left end.

The PAT was missed. The Wildcats recovered their momentum when Belaski scored his second TD on a 50-yard scamper around the left end.

Ward Greer converted the PAT and Bethel Baptist led 14-6 at halftime.

The Wildcats opened the second half strongly when Greer scored on a six-yard run. The PAT failed. The Wildcats led 20 to 6.

Then CEHS began to bounce back with a 30-yard Mike Hart TD run. The PAT missed. The Wildcats still led 20 to 12.

Late in the fourth quarter John Gregory blocked a Wildcat punt and Justen Scott recovered the ball. CEHS quickly converted on a five-yard TD run by Hart. The PAT was good. Regulation play ended tied at 20 to 20.

The overtime period gave each team four possessions at the 10-yard line.

A determined Raider defense held the Wildcats four consecutive playing times. On the Raiders' fourth possession Gregory ran up the middle from the 10-yard-line for the game winning score. The final score was 22 to 20 with the Raiders victorious.

Coach Kearney Bobinger stated that the team has played very well in the past few weeks.

"The Raiders took a beating in the first game because many players were in new positions. After that game, a few adjustments in philosophy and personnel have contributed to the turn around," he stated.

"The large margins of game scores, 28 to 0 and 42 to 0, shows that both the offensive and defensive units have put forth tremendous efforts," the coach added.

The Raiders will play their next game at the CEHS Pass Christian field on Saturday at 2 p.m.

USM scientist funded for heart-lung study

An experimental psychologist at the University of Southern Mississippi has received a first-year grant of nearly $50,000 to study how the human respiratory and cardiovascular systems work in psychologically stressful situations.

Dr. Michael T. Allen, assistant professor in the College of Education and Psychology at USM, received a $48,150 first-year grant from the National Institutes of Health to conduct the research.

Allen estimates the grant to continue for three years and total funding to reach $107,500.

"We have been interested in whether stress might be one avenue to the development of certain types of hypertension," Allen said. "Many people have the idea that stress may have something to do with high blood pressure and heart disease, but how this occurs is unclear."

Allen's research will deal with the effects of the autonomic nervous system that controls involuntary body functions. One part of the system, the sympathetic nervous system, generally is responsible for mobilizing the body for action, including speeding up functions of the heart and lungs. The parasympathetic nervous system generally counters the sympathetic, slowing metabolic functions.

"We will put our subjects (100 over the three-year period) in challenging situations and measure such cardiovascular variables as heart rate, blood pressure and cardiac output (the amount of blood pumped by the heart per minute)," Allen said.

"We will also measure the subject's oxygen consumption, carbon dioxide produced and breathing patterns. During a second phase of the project, we will control the subject's respiration to see if we can modify the cardiovascular response to the task being done."

"In previous work with Dr. Paul Obrist at the University of North Carolina, we found young men with normal blood pressure who exhibited excessive cardiovascular responses to stressful situations similar to that seen in borderline hypertensives," Allen added.

He said his work with Dr. Obrist also demonstrated the excessive response was associated with increased sympathetic nervous system response, but data exists suggesting there also may be too little parasympathetic input in those who were tested.

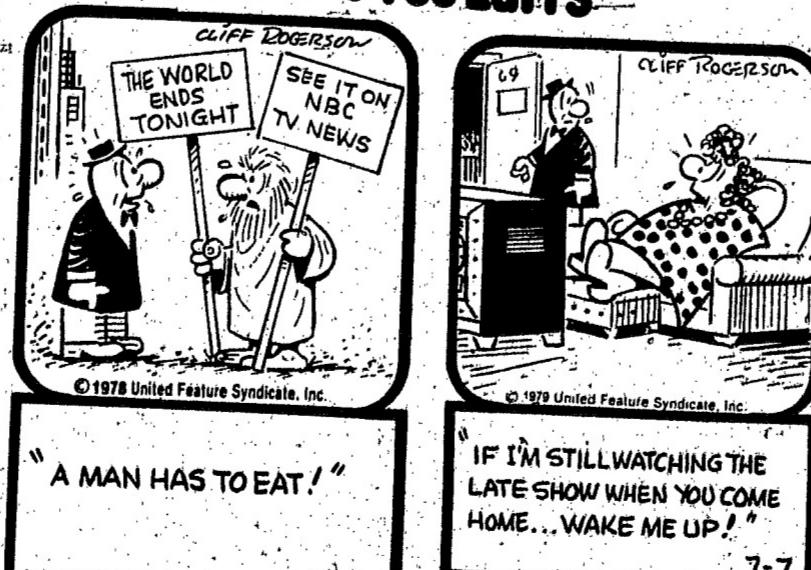

"We can manipulate parasympathetic input to the heart to some extent by manipulating breathing patterns," Allen said.

In addition to measurements taken during stressful situations, data also will be collected when the research subjects are at rest.

According to Allen, there is a possibility one cause of high blood pressure may be linked to the body's permanent adoption of the physical/mechanical state that accompanies hypertension.

He said body tissues responding to an excess of blood flow will show blood vessel constriction. And it is possible that individuals showing excessive blood flow due to stress may (over a period of time) develop a permanent high blood vessel resistance (leading to hypertension) from the frequent vessel constriction due to the excessive blood flow.

Hawks hungry for district win

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
Hungry for their first district win of the season, the Hancock North Central Hawks will travel to Biloxi Friday, to take on the St. Martin Yellow Jackets.

"To us this is the most important game we have played so far this season, because it is the beginning of a championship bid," Head Coach Irvin Favre said.

Following this game, the Hawks will have only to face George County and D'Iberville in competition for the district title.

After their win over the St. Stanislaus Rockachaws last week, the Hawks have a 3-1 season record.

The Yellow Jackets currently have a one win and four loss record but Favre says the teams they have played are tough and the games have been close.

"They were defeated twice in overtime and Long Beach won by a single touchdown," he added.

Favre says the Hawks have played St. Martin three times, losing two games but defeated them in overtime last year.

"This is another game that is always close," he added.

The Hawk defense will be watching for Yellow Jacket Tailback Tommy Weldy, Favre said.

"Their offense is geared around Weldy, who is known as the top running back on coast," he said.

"Our defense must be ready to put a lot of pressure on him," Favre said.

"The Hawk offense must just keep up the good work, mixing the passing and running and putting points on the board," he said.

"If Hancock is going to win a district championship, we have to start it this Friday," Favre added.

"I was real pleased with the team's performance last week against St. Stanislaus, we just need to have the same kind of game this week," he said.

Pirates change offense in search of victory

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
Four games into the season, the Pass Christian Pirates are changing their offensive strategy.

Head Coach Alton Wright reports due to injuries, the Pirates will be going back to the I-formation this week.

"We will be running out of the 'I' with J. W. Dedeaux as quarterback," Wright said.

Wright said with the loss of Shinall Conway and another player with a hurt finger he decided a change was needed.

"The team is really enthusiastic and were ready for the change," he said.

Wright also said he believed the change had put new life back into the team which has not had a win this season.

"We have had good practices this week and the team members have really been getting after it," he said.

The River pulls even with Warrior victory

Pearl River College evened its record at 3-3 Saturday night with a 9-7 decision over the East Central Warriors.

Sophomore Tommy Nash of Gulf Breeze, Fla., kicked a 32-yard field goal with 11:51 remaining in the fourth quarter to give the Wildcats their first South Division win of the 1985 season.

East Central scored first on a 47-yard pass to Billy McLeod from Rusty Davis with 3:22 remaining in the first period. Luke Vaughn kicked the PAT to give the Warriors a 7-0 advantage.

Pearl River's first score came on a one yard run by fullback Chris Jones of Picayune.

The touchdown was set up by a 42-yard kickoff return by Marvin Houston of Poplarville and a 34-yard run to the one by quarterback Jason Martin of Lucedale.

The try for a two point conversion failed, leaving the score 7-6 with 12:33 left in the third quarter.

Pearl River marched to the East Central 25 and then on fourth down

Nash kicked the winning three pointer.

Marvin Houston rushed for 102 yards on 25 carries and Jones picked up 49 yards on 14 tries. Eight different receivers caught passes for the Wildcats with Tim Hatten of Sunrall grabbing three for 38 yards.

On defense, Charles Swain had four tackles and five assists including two sacks. Tommy Nash recorded four tackles and three assists and blocked one pass.

The wildcats will meet the undefeated Gulf Coast Bulldogs Saturday night in Biloxi at 7:30 p.m.

Headquarters

As the days get longer and more pleasant, people spend more time out of doors. This increases the chances for contact with bugs that sting or bite.

Prevention of the sting is easier than dealing with the treatment. Things to be aware of in avoiding these biting bugs are to remove the insects and their nests (a professional exterminator may be required); wear clothing made from smooth finish fabrics, colors should be light, not dark or of a floral design; be careful not to disturb insects when doing yardwork; cover your face and move away slowly if bugs approach you, sudden movement or swatting them may provoke them. Do not wear scented perfumes or cosmetics or eat sweet food when outside. This attracts the insects to you.

With normal reaction to a sting, little treatment is required. If the sting is from a honey bee, the stinger needs to be removed. This should be done by scraping it away with a knife blade. This method prevents more venom being squeezed into the wound. The next step is to thoroughly clean the area with soap and water, alcohol and peroxide. A paste made with baking soda or meat tenderizer and water may be applied to the sting. Putting ice on the area will help relieve pain and itch and may also stop swelling. If itching occurs, an over-the-counter antihistamine may be taken.

Each year, about 40 people die from the results of insect stings. Seventeen to twenty per cent of the population is allergic to the venom from insects. Drop for drop, the venom of a bee is as potent as that of a rattlesnake.

Ticks are other critters that can cause some problems: they can spread the disease of tularemia, tick paralysis and relapsing fever. Their bite is seldom painful and an attached tick may not be noticed for several days.

Preventing tick attachment can be accomplished by wearing protective clothing and hightop boots. Shirt cuffs should fit tightly and trouser legs should be tucked into boots. Insect repellent applied around cuffs and on exposed skin is helpful in keeping ticks away.

The treatment involving the removal of ticks is basic. Place a drop of kerosene, benzene or gasoline on the tick to get it to release its grip. It is important to be sure that none of the mouth parts are left behind. Applying petroleum jelly, clear fingernail polish or mineral oil will smother the tick and it will release its grip. These remedies take time; one should allow 10 minutes for them to work.

A tick should not be squeezed, as this could force the body's contents into the wound. After the tick is removed, the area should be cleaned with an antiseptic.

Proper prevention measures and common sense can make your outdoor adventures free from the pain of insect bites.

Wildcats to face 'No. 1' Saturday

THE SEA COAST ECHO—THURSDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1985-9B

Pearl River and Gulf Coast Junior College will continue their long-standing rivalry this Saturday in Biloxi.

Since the 1920's the Pearl River Wildcats and the Gulf Coast Bulldogs, (aka Perk), have been knocking heads on the gridiron field. There have been numerous close games, many upsets, a few blowouts and some national and many state hopes dashed or kept alive.

This game will be no different as the Gulf Coast Bulldogs enter the contest undefeated and tied with the nation's longest winning streak in tact at 18.

By the time the Bulldogs are released this week the Bulldogs will probably be rated as the number one team in the nation.

The George Sekul-led Bulldogs were number two last week and that's before they knocked off the tough Jones Bobcats 17-7. The "Dogs" are 5-0 here in 1985 and this after posting a perfect 13-0 mark in 1984 and the national championship.

The PRC Wildcats are not rated and have only a so-so 3-3 overall ledger. In the South Division the 'Cats are 1-2 and they nosed out East Central this past week only 9-7 to record that one conference victory.

In fact, during the past 10 years the Wildcats have won only twice over the Bulldogs. Back in 1981, the last time PRC won the South, the River won 14-10. The only other time during the past decade the 'Cats have managed a victory was back in 1976, the last time PRC won the state championship.

Going back to 1966, the Bulldogs have beaten the Wildcats 13 times while losing only six times. Record wise it has been lopsided but still not as one sided as the period from 1949 to 1965. During that span Pearl River College won 17 straight games over neighboring Gulf Coast.

In 1966, during PRC's legendary coach Dobie Holden's last season, the Bulldogs won 33-0 to end the streak. Since that time things have been different but the competition just as intense.

Here in 1985, there's a new twist to the PRC-Perk saga. Mike Nelson, assistant to Sekul at Gulf Coast the past seven years, is now the head man of the Pearl River Wildcats.

Nelson moved in as head coach this past January to replace J. C. Arban, the Wildcat head mentor for the past 10 years. Changing sidelines for Nelson will make for an even more interesting twist here in '85.

"We'll have to have our players ready and they must play over their heads for us to stay with them," said Nelson, here Monday morning. "It's a big game for us and we're certain ly looking forward to it."

The Wildcats opened the 1985 season with a 7-3 win over Holmes, but then lost to Hinds, Jones and Northwest before bouncing back with wins over Itawamba and East Central.

Gulf Coast's first game was cancelled due to hurricane Elena, but since that time they have been blowing up their own storm with wins over Southwest, Coahoma, East Central, Northeast and Jones.

"They (Gulf Coast) are the national champions and they have proven worthy of that title here in 1985," Nelson said. "Being a part of the Gulf Coast system for many years and knowing many of the athletes on their team this season makes me respect them even more."

Nelson said he knew Coach Sekul will have his players ready for the game. "Coach Sekul does an excellent job preparing his team," Nelson said. "I know a lot of what he will do but I also know he'll have some new wrinkles just for us."

The PRC coach said the first two quarters were very important to the Wildcats. "If we are close at the half, then we'll have a chance," Nelson said. "The problem is staying close during the first half."

The Wildcats dropped six starters from the squad after the third game of the season and Nelson and his assistants Bill Martin and Herb Morris have been shuffling players since that time to fill the gaps, especially on defense.

"It should be an excellent spectator game," Nelson said. Last year the Wildcats led 14-0 at halftime before losing 24-14. The last time PRC played Perk at Biloxi, the Wildcats led 14-0 before losing 17-14.

Overall the Wildcats have won 32, lost 20 and tied one. Gametime is 7:30 p.m.

ASCS Report

ASC COMMITTEE ELECTIONS

A list of the names of all known eligible persons to receive ballots in the upcoming annual ASC committee election soon will be available in the county ASCS office, reports Franklin A. Gennin, CED.

Farmers began nominating candidates for the ASC election on Oct. 3.

ASCS, an agency of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, is responsible for farm program administration.

On the local level, ASCS operates under a farmer-elected committee system.

This year's elections will be by mail ballot between Nov. 22 and Dec. 2. Voters may also get ballots at the County ASCS Office.

Anyone who meets the following requirements is eligible to vote in these farmer committee elections: any individual of legal voting age with an interest in a farm as owner, operator, tenant, or sharecropper who is eligible to participate in any ASCS program.

Several general provisions relate to ASCS voter eligibility. A wife who operates a farm with her husband can vote if her name is on the deed of conveyance.

Any person under legal voting age can vote if he or she runs a farm, and a legal guardian who runs a farm for a child can vote for the child.

No person can be denied the right to vote because of race, sex, age, color, religion, handicap or national origin.

A person may cast a ballot in any county in which he or she is an eligible ASC voter, but he or she cannot vote in more than one community in the county.

If an eligible voter has separate farm interests in more than one community in the same county, special care will be taken to see that only one ballot is issued to that voter.

Musings

Stephen's name was appropriate because it means "crown." He was the first Christian to receive the crown of martyrdom. He was a Greek-speaking Jew and worked in the synagogue of foreign Jews. He performed great wonders and miracles. When he was stoned, he had a vision of heaven with Jesus at the side of God. He called on Jesus to receive his spirit.

"And he kneeled down, and cried with a loud voice, Lord, lay not this sin to their charge. And when he had said this, he fell asleep."

I kept gaining and losing the same 20 pounds. Then I said this time it's going to be different.

I tried every pill, every gimmick to lose weight. Only I feel miserable when gaining it all back. Finally I said no, never again—this time I'm going to Diet Center. I lost the weight without hunger and I'm keeping it off.

My only regret? Not going sooner!

A SAFETY GESTURE
By Patti Carr Black
State Historical Museum
Jackson

The crash-proof car is what many motorists desperately need. However, another safety measure, unlike the crash-proof car, is immediately available; unlike any car, it won't cost a cent.

This measure is designed to cool hot tempers, a leading cause of accidents (and excessive horn blowing). This thing will make a brotherhood or sisterhood of harassed driverhood. It will put a smile in the heart, of not on the face, of any but the angriest motorist.

It can be done by mayoral decree, legislative action, the Commissioner of Public Safety, or just preaching it from the pulpits. Mississippi can start a ground-swell movement that will sweep the country and bring relief to stresses everywhere. It can be called the "Mississippi Move."

What the nation needs is a body gesture. It should be used with integrity and come from the heart. It should mean, "I'm sorry I did a dumb thing like that in traffic, I meant no harm. It was mindless. I will try to do better. Have a nice day anyway and forgive me if you can."

In thinking over our repertoire of gestures now in use, most seem hostile. They include: a single raised finger, the shaking fist, the hit on the elbow, the thumbing of the nose, the finger across the throat, the fingers flicking the chin, the kick, the moon, hand on the hip, the stuck-out tongue, the crossed eyes, and the bared teeth.

On the benign side we have the smile, the wave, the salute, thumbs up, the A-okay circle, the praying hands, and the outstretched arms (not good for driving).

A small group of neutral, but specific, gestures include: shoulders shrugged, nodding or shaking head, pointing finger, hands palm up, and the outstretched undulating hand.

The new gesture must be unique. It should be a broad gesture so that it can be seen by the motorist blinded with anger over your cutting in front of him.

It should be clean-cut, brief, and unequivocal in its apology.

Once established in traffic, it can be transposed for use in all kinds of group situations: at department stores sales when you get rudely carried away; at parties when you've been obstreperous and want to apologize to the whole room; at the zoo to let your caged friends know you are not responsible.

Or, if you are the naturally apologetic type, you can use it just walking down the street, signaling "mea culpa" every step of the way.

This is an opportunity to put Mississippi on the map. This newspaper welcomes suggestions. The gesture can be done with the head, the shoulders, one arm or one hand, as long as it does not interfere with driving. Who knows, if we initiate the "Mississippi Move," we may be the first state to ever receive the Nobel Prize for Peace.

Real-life star wars

Helping pre-schoolers deal with nuclear fears

By Norine Barnes
Child Development Specialist
Cooperative Extension Service
Parents are aware the threat of nuclear attack tops the "worry list" of many adults, but they sometimes forget children get nervous over this topic too.

Most adults can deal with their nuclear fears because of their mature reasoning process. However, this is not so with the pre-schooler. At times, a preschooler still confuses fantasy and reality. To him, it is entirely possible that a "Star Wars" means could land in his backyard with a diabolical nuclear spray gun.

The pre-schooler also gives human qualities and speech to non-living things. If Peter Rabbit can laugh and talk and get into mischief, what keeps a nuclear warhead from blowing up whenever it wants to? Because he is so young and little, the pre-schooler frequently feels totally helpless, unable to control what is happening to him.

All these factors add an extra dose of anxiety to the pre-schooler's fear of nuclear attack. Parents can learn to deal with these fears effectively.

Let the fear surface. Suppressed fears and emotions tend to multiply. Silence does not mean the child is free from fear. Some children simply do not verbalize about the scary corners of their consciousness. Set up other avenues for letting his fears surface. Role playing, puppets, and art projects have proved to be good outlets.

Let the child know it is okay to be afraid or angry. Tell him you are afraid and angry, too, sometimes. Then, discuss ways to cope with fears. Family talks often help a youngster see that people can be concerned without being "scared silly." Sharing of this sort frequently gives the child a sense of control over what is happening to him.

Explain that wars are started by people who refuse to settle differences through discussion, so the people resort to violence to get their own way. Wars are started by people, not bombs.

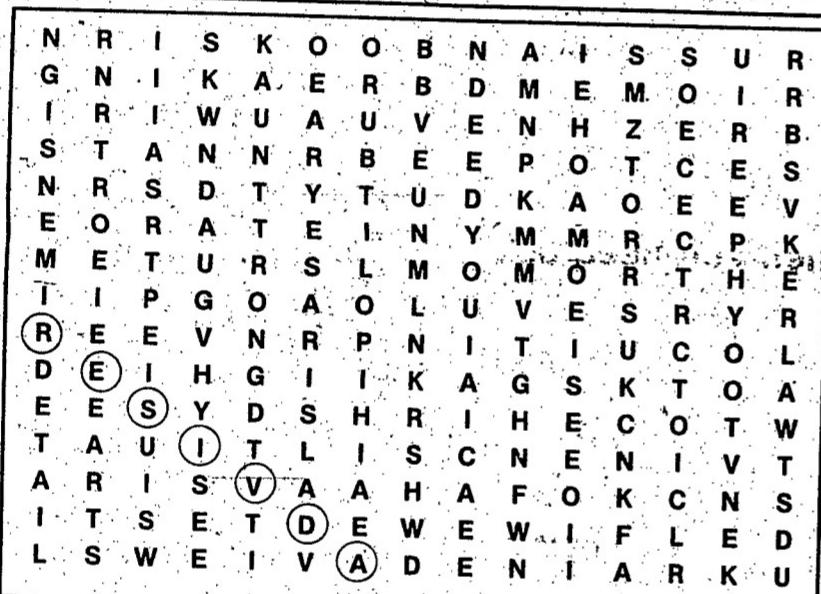

SENSITIVE PARENTING

Give appropriate data. Talk to the child on his level, reassuring him in terms he can understand. Assure him his misbehavior cannot cause a nuclear war. Little children should be told, too, that bombs cannot move on their own—they have no hands, feet or feelings that can trigger action.

Word Cage

BY TRACY ST. JOHN

RULES — There are three parts to THE WORD CAGE: (1) clues and (2) quiz, which lead to (3) the final answer, the MYSTERY WORD. The clues and quiz are hidden in the grid — up, down, across, backword or diagonally. First circle the clue words (we've found the first word for you). You may find the same letter in more than one word, so circle each letter clearly. Next, circle the quiz words; the first letter and number of letters are given for each. When you have circled all the clue and quiz words, the remaining uncircled letters will spell out the answer to this week's WORD CAGE.

Critter Chronicles

Animals, Birds, Bites Also Man Not The Only Victim Of Hard And Soft Ticks

By Dr. Douglas M. Gaydon
Entomology Specialist,
Cooperative Extension Service

In the fourth century B.C., Aristotle referred to ticks as "disgusting parasitic animals."

Since that time, few people have disagreed. Almost all animals, with the exception of fishes, are subject to attack by ticks.

Mammals are especially attractive to these pests.

Ticks eat blood. Both males and females suck blood from their host. Ticks are not insects, though many people assume so. Ticks are members of a group called Acarina, and are closely related to mites and spiders.

Ticks can be easily distinguished from insects. Ticks have a body that is not divided—the body parts are fused into one leathery sac-like structure.

Insects always have three distinct body divisions: head, thorax and abdomen.

Ticks are of two kinds: hard ticks and soft ticks. Although there are many species in each group, the hard ticks are more numerous and are more important in their effect on mankind.

One of the hard ticks, the American dog tick, is probably the most numerous tick in Mississippi. Besides being a pest to our pets, the American dog tick spreads Rocky Mountain spotted fever.

Ticks have an unusual life cycle. They mate on their host. The adult female drops off the host, full of blood, to lay as many as 6,000 eggs on the ground.

The eggs hatch in about one month into larvae or seed ticks. These young ticks climb up anything available and wait for a host to come by close enough for them to brush off.

It is amazing that these young ticks can live for as long as a year waiting for that first host.

Once a host is found, the young tick will attach itself to the host and engorge with blood.

Depending on the species of tick, the tick may mature into an adult on the first host or, it may drop off, shed its skin to grow, and seek another host.

There are ticks that require one, two and three hosts, before they reach adulthood and are ready to start the cycle over again.

Rocky Mountain spotted fever is characterized by a rash on the wrists, ankles and back; lower back pain; headache and fever.

Symptoms appear in two-to-five days after being bitten by an infected tick.

Thankfully, the majority of ticks do not carry Rocky Mountain spotted fever. There are two or three cases per year in Mississippi.

Many tales exist about how to remove a tick once it has attached itself. The best way is with forceps.

Using the forceps, grasp the tick as close to your skin as possible and use a straight, steady pull, no jerking or twisting.

Parts of the tick almost near tear off and remain in your skin using this method. If a part should remain, remove it using a sterile needle—as you would remove a splinter.

The American dog tick is a three-host tick. The first two hosts, when the tick is immature, are usually mice or rats.

The third host, upon which the ticks will mature, is usually a dog or other large animal including man.

Rocky Mountain spotted fever is carried by ticks. In the central and eastern United States, the American dog tick is the principal carrier. In the western United States, the Rocky Mountain wood tick is the principal carrier.

Interestingly, in the west most cases of Rocky Mountain spotted fever occur in men, while in the east, women and children are stricken most often. This seems odd but is easily explainable.

The American dog tick, the carrier in the east, occurs most often on dogs, and women and children have closer, more frequent contact with the family pet than do men.

In the west, the Rocky Mountain wood tick occurs primarily on livestock and wildlife and is more frequently contacted by men.

It's tough to be in control when someone's out of control

"It's gone beyond the normal rebelling. I can't cope with the situation anymore. My child is changing before my eyes."

What looks like "bad" adult behavior may seem to an adolescent the only way to respond to fear and confusion. If the behavior patterns below look familiar, your child may be under severe stress and calling for help.

- Sharp, hostile outbursts • Abrupt changes in mood • Secretive behavior
- Lying • Isolation from the family, marked withdrawal • Deterioration of school performance • Excessive sensitivity to criticism, defensiveness

It may be easier to wait and hope the problem will go away. But while we're waiting, one in four adolescents experiment with alcohol and drugs. While we struggle to regain control, one in 10 become addicted.

Your adolescent could be showing signs of serious emotional stress or depression. You both may need a fresh perspective. Call the NorthShore Psychiatric Hospital. Talk to an experienced counselor who will recommend the right help. It's confidential. It's your chance to regain control of yourself and someone you love.

It's never too early to consider VA burial benefits

Awareness of Veterans Administration burial and death benefits can spare a deceased veteran's family anxiety and financial hardship, according to Jackson VA regional office director, Samuel J. Maranan.

Interment in a national cemetery is available to veterans discharged under conditions other than dishonorable and, said Maranan, that eligibility extends to a veteran's spouse and minor children under certain guidelines.

"VA will furnish a headstone or marker to memorialize a veteran or mark the grave of a veteran buried in a national, state or private cemetery," Maranan explained. "VA will also provide markers to eligible dependents interred in a national or state veterans' cemetery."

A memorial marker or headstone for veterans whose remains have not been recovered or identified is also provided by the VA. This includes those who were buried at sea, those whose bodies were donated to science, and those who were cremated and the ashes scattered. A memorial section in national cemeteries honors these veterans.

Maranan noted that VA also provides, if death is not service-connected, up to $300 toward the burial expenses of eligible veterans and $150 as a plot or interment allowance if the veteran is not buried in a national cemetery or other federal government cemetery.

Burial allowance eligibility is established if the veteran was entitled at the time of death to VA compensation or pension payments or died in a VA medical facility. This eligibility may also be established in cases of certain indigent veterans whose remains are unclaimed.

The plot allowance is available if the veteran is entitled to the burial allowance, or served during a war period, or was discharged or retired from service because of a disability which was incurred or aggravated in time of duty. If the veteran's death is service connected, VA will pay an amount not to exceed $1,000 in lieu of the burial and plot allowance.

VA will also provide:

- * an American flag for use in covering a casket; and

- * reimbursement for part of the cost of a headstone or marker brought after the veteran's death and placed on the grave of a veteran. The current amount is $70, the average cost of government headstones purchased by VA; and,

- * a memorial certificate, bearing the signature of the President, expressing the nation's recognition of the deceased veteran's service.

For information contact the Jackson VA Regional Office between the hours of 7:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. The statewide toll-free number is 1-800-682-5270. If you live in the Meridian area, call 693-6166; in the Gulfport/Biloxi area, call 432-5996. The number in the Jackson area is 960-2033.

The 1985 Fund Raising Drive of The United Way of Hancock County will be held in memory of our beloved President J. Norton Haas, Sr., who died in August, 1985.

This disaster preparedness and relief program is always in readiness. They have spent millions of dollars in Hancock County following Camille, Betsy and other local disasters. Red Cross conducts classes in swimming, water safety and first aid. Round the clock assistance is given to those in the military forces, their families and to the veteran. They work closely with the Civil Defense Program.

HANCOCK COUNTY BLOOD BANK 467-4944

For local emergency needs, food, shelter and clothing is provided, and they also assist with medical prescriptions and other means of assistance.

GOODWILL INDUSTRIES

Their Bay St. Louis Store gives handicapped persons an opportunity for gainful employment. The organization is dedicated to the rehabilitation of physically and mentally disabled persons. Your donations of good wearable clothing and repairable household goods fill a great need to those persons in the community who cannot afford to purchase new items.

U.S.O. (WORLDWIDE)

This organization provides a home away from home for military persons and their families. The small contribution we give them represents our share of financial assistance for the help they give our local men and women in the armed forces.

GIRL SCOUTS - GULF PINES COUNCIL

There are seven thousand girls in the council, with 330 local girls in the twenty-one Hancock County troops, under the leadership of 100 adults. The girls enjoy fun, fellowship and preparation for young womanhood. Camp "Ida" provides wonderful weekend and summer vacations.

BOY SCOUTS - CYPRESS DISTRICT

Boy Scouting is a character building preparation for adult life. It provides a boy with training, while he enjoys adventure, fun and companionship under father leadership. Hundreds of Hancock County boys participate in scouting throughout their growing-up years. Their camp "Vee Bar" is one of the finest in the country.

VIMCA

Works to create, maintain and extend throughout the home, school and community, high standards of Christian character.

FIREMEN'S DOLL AND TOY FUND

At Christmastime each year our local firemen play Santa Claus to the needy children of the Waveland and Bay St. Louis area. Local people in these two cities supplement the United Way contributions to supply the funds. Merchants are most helpful, and RSVP volunteers assist with the preparations. In fact, this is a most joyful community project.

WHAT IS THE UNITED WAY OF HANCOCK COUNTY?

The United Way is a fund raising, service, information, communication and educational organization which belongs to the people of Hancock County. It is your instrument of local charity. It represents the fair share contributions of our people given in a single campaign to the organizations included in the Fund. Your United Way of Hancock County and its agencies work on a day-to-day basis to assist our people with their human needs.

WHO OPERATES THE UNITED WAY?

A Board of Directors, all volunteers, selected by our contributors. The United Way of Hancock County is controlled and operated by its own people.

WHAT DOES THE UNITED WAY OF HANCOCK COUNTY DO?

It affords every individual and company an opportunity for wise, effective and easy giving to help support many of the worthwhile service and charitable organizations operating in Hancock County, which need and deserve our voluntary contributions. Funds received are budgeted and paid out to the participating agencies under the direction and control of the Board of Directors.

WHY AREN'T ALL FUND RAISING ORGANIZATIONS IN THE UNITED WAY?

United Way affiliation is voluntary. Some organizations are bound by policies of their national headquarters, which do not permit them to participate in local federated campaigns. There are also organizations which do not meet the strict requirements of sound management. The United Way maintains an open door policy to all organizations which qualify. One of the basic requirements is that they provide a needed service to the people of Hancock County.

MAY I DESIGNATE THE AGENCY WHICH IS TO RECEIVE MY CONTRIBUTION?

Yes, by simply writing the name of the agency on the pledge.

HOW MUCH OF MY CONTRIBUTION GOES TO THE EXPENSES OF THE DRIVE AND OPERATING EXPENSE?

The United Way of Hancock County campaign and operating expense runs approximately 9%. Smaller drives by individual agencies sometime average as much as 30% for campaign costs and overhead.

UNITED WAY MEETINGS are held at 4 p.m. on the second Tuesday of each month at Coast Electric. All our citizens are invited.DIRECTORS OF THE UNITED WAY

Waveland man recalls time spent with William Faulkner in Hancock

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

Fans of celebrated Mississippi author William Faulkner do not have to travel further than Waveland to visit a place where he lived and wrote.

Market Street resident Ducre Bourgeois recalls with fondness the time spent with Faulkner when he rented a house on Beach Boulevard.

Bourgeois said Faulkner lived in a house on the corner of Market Street for a couple of months around 1920.

"My cousin Edward Bourgeois and I met him one night as we were going floundering along the beach in front of his house," he added.

"We just stopped and started talking to him," Bourgeois said.

"Faulkner told us he had left New Orleans and the French Quarter to get away from the alcohol," he said.

"We told him we could get him some white lightning and he said he would like to have a drink sometimes," Bourgeois said.

"So we brought him a half gallon of whiskey the next night," Bourgeois said.

"We all drank some and my cousin and I stayed there until it was getting time to go crabbing," he added.

"Faulkner was a fine looking man in his late 20's," Bourgeois said, "but a peculiar fellow."

"He went floundering with us a couple of times but it was too much work and too much walking for him," Bourgeois said.

"Sometimes when we left he would start writing."

"You could always tell when he was writing because of the mess, the entire front porch would be covered with papers and books."

"He would hardly eat anything and most times when he was writing he didn't want to talk to us or anybody else."

"But he never drank a drop of liquor when he was working, he just kept right on working."

"Once he wrote an entire book in three days."

Bourgeois knows of only one book Faulkner based in the Bay St. Louis area.

"He wrote one book about three young black boys leaving on a trip from Bay St. Louis to Memphis."

Bourgeois said: Faulkner would have an entire table covered with paper with just little bits and pieces scribbled on each page.

"He never wanted anybody to know what he was writing and when we would come to visit he would cover everything up with blank sheets of paper," he said.

During all the time Faulkner lived by the beach he stayed by himself, Bourgeois said.

"No girlfriends came around and nobody but us visited or talked to him," he added.

Bourgeois said Faulkner stayed in Waveland for a couple of months.

"He left while I was out of town and I never saw him again," Bourgeois said.

"I later read that he had gone back to Ole Miss," he added.

Although the house that Faulkner lived in was demolished in a 1947 hurricane, the house now on the property is called Faulkner Heights.

Bourgeois and his wife Mazie still live on Market Street, just across the street from where Faulkner lived and wrote.

Consumer Update....

From Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service

On smart car buying...

As the new 1986 models near the showrooms, car dealers are saying, "Now is the time to buy a new car." Traditionally September and early October have been considered as the best months for car buyers. But are they?

A car's value drops significantly the minute it leaves the dealer's lot. A 1985 car bought in September depreciates a whole year as soon as the new 1986 models are unloaded in October.

Consumers of all ages find the problem of car selecting, financing and servicing more frustrating than any other category of consumer purchases. In 1984 20 percent of the complaints to the Consumer Protection Section of the Attorney General's office included dealer concerns, repair and auto supply shop rip-offs and manufacturing problems.

To make a wise and informed decision about a car, you need to learn about cars, the hows of financing and insurance considerations. Most local libraries have up-to-date magazines, buying guides and vertical file pamphlets on car buying. Don't ignore the pattern of depreciation and the relationship of car age and condition to purchase price. Think ahead to how long you would like to keep your car to decide whether resale value will be important.

If you are making a trade in, it can be tricky so you must know the going rates. The value is partially determined by the dealer's ability to resell it. A check in the "blue book" used by lenders for current used car prices can give you a realistic guide to the trade-in value. The dealer's offer will rarely be above the book wholesale price, but knowing it beforehand gives you an extra bargaining edge.

In financing, don't leap at the lowest figure. Always compare rates as the lowest rate may apply only to certain models or for a limited time such as one year of the loan term. Also, some finance plans require a large amount to be financed at the lower rate for a longer period of time, thereby increasing the total cost of the car.

Insurance is very competitive today, especially for those drivers who are considered to be a better-than-average risk (those with a good driving record, good grades or nonsmokers). Assess your present coverage and determine whether you are paying too much for coverage. The seven basic types of coverage to consider are:

—Bodily injury liability—to protect against injury or death of another person.

—Property damage liability—to protect you if your car damages another car or property.

—Medical payments—to pay accidental injuries to you or your passengers.

—Uninsured motorist—to pay for medical costs resulting from an accident involving an uninsured or hit-and-run driver.

—Comprehensive physical damage—to pay for those "acts of God" damages such as fire, hail or flood.

—Collision—to pay damages to your car should you hit something.

—Catastrophic—to provide umbrella coverage for suits brought against you.

The more you know about these concerns, the wiser you will be in spending your car dollars. For more information on car buying and other consumer concerns, please contact your local county Extension office, or call the Consumer Money Management Center in Biloxi at 388-4710.

On banking and savings...

If you want to check on the financial status of any bank in the FDIC system, you can request a "Call Report"—a quarterly statement of profit and loss and balance sheet of the bank including data on past-due loans. Free from Annie Miller, Database, FDIC, 550 17th Street N.W., Washington, D.C. 20429. For free quarterly reports on savings and loans with federal insurance, write to Theresa Jackson, Statistics, FHLLB, 1700 G Street N.W., Washington, D.C. 20052. Be sure to list the name of the savings and loan as well as the address of its home office.

...and about cars, the hows of financing

and insurance considerations. Most local libraries have up-to-date magazines, buying guides and vertical file pamphlets on car buying.

Don't ignore the pattern of depreciation and the relationship of car age and condition to purchase price. Think ahead to how long you would like to keep your car to decide whether resale value will be important.

If you are making a trade in, it can be tricky so you must know the going rates. The value is partially determined by the dealer's ability to resell it. A check in the "blue book" used by lenders for current used car prices can give you a realistic guide to the trade-in value. The dealer's offer will rarely be above the book wholesale price, but knowing it beforehand gives you an extra bargaining edge.

In financing, don't leap at the lowest figure. Always compare rates as the lowest rate may apply only to certain models or for a limited time such as one year of the loan term. Also, some finance plans require a large amount to be financed at the lower rate for a longer period of time, thereby increasing the total cost of the car.

Insurance is very competitive today, especially for those drivers who are considered to be a better-than-average risk (those with a good driving record, good grades or nonsmokers). Assess your present coverage and determine whether you are paying too much for coverage. The seven basic types of coverage to consider are:

Hollywood Marquee

by James S. Leach

HOLLYWOOD — As promised a few weeks ago, I want to keep you up to date on the latest news coming from the sets of your favorite prime-time soaps.

Let's start with "Dallas." High drama is taking place both in front of, and behind, the cameras of this longtime CBS television series. On the screen this fall you're going to see Larry Hagman's heartless character, J.R. Ewing, mellow out a bit. You see, J.R.'s going to suffer a nervous breakdown. Fear not, J.R. fans, you notice I said mellow out a bit. The breakdown may soften our favorite villain for a little while, but don't worry, he still has many a dirty deed up his drenched sleeve.

Behind the scenes on the South Fork ranch, the real action is almost as interesting as the plots of the show. Actress Donna Reed, who played Miss Ellie last season, has lost the first round in her bid to stop production of "Dallas." She's still nursing a very bruised ego, suffered when she was unceremoniously booted off the show. The return of Barbara Bel Geddes to the role of Miss Ellie prompted Donna's suit to stop production. Don't feel too sorry for dear Donna, in the long run, she'll be laughing all the way to the bank, as Lorimar, the company that produces "Dallas," will be paying her $17,250 per week for the remaining two years of her contract.

Over at ABC, when we last saw our friends from "Dynasty," they were the victims of an almost too real terrorist ambush. As of the moment, the official list of non-survivors includes Steven's lover, Luke, Lady Ashley, and the wimpy Prince of Moldavia. There is absolutely no truth to the rumored demise of Krystle. Linda Evans is just too popular.

On the set of the "Dynasty" spinoff, "The Colbys of California," nearly every big name in Hollywood has been mentioned for roles in the show slated to make its debut in ABC's Thursday night line-up.

Heavyweights (no pun intended) like Elizabeth Taylor, Burt Lancaster, Charlton Heston, Faye Dunaway, Elizabeth Montgomery, Barbara Stanwyck, Kim Novak, Jennifer Jones and James Coburn have been considered for major roles in the series which will star John James and Emma Samms.

Across town in the high-rise offices of Chuck Barris, the sets of his 1970's classics, "The Newlywed Game," "The Dating Game" and, one of my all time favorites, "The Gong Show," are being dusted off. Within the next two years, Barris plans to revive all three shows. Also coming from his office is the news of two new game shows — "Liar's Poker," where contestants guess occupations of players while engaging in a friendly game of poker, and "Family Olympics" which squares off two families against each other in sporting events. Kind of a "Family Feud" in shorts and sneakers.

Jolly Green Thumb

BY MARY FUREY CRYMES

When houseplants come indoors after a summer in the sun, they seem to need new homes. Not changes of location, mind you — but new planters in which to grow and flourish. Naturally, you'd love to go out and buy all matching, gorgeous planters, but if you're like most growers, the budget is hard pressed to cover the cost. You can get some nice results and scratch the creative itch at the same time making planters from cards.

It's nice if you can match the planter to the plant — that it, rounded shape for bushy, rounded plant, etc. There should be room for the right kind — no trailing plants in old pie tins, for instance. Save these for cactus dish gardens. Gallon and half gallon plastic milk jugs, with handles removed, can be used in a variety of ways. Edges can be cut in fancy shapes; the jugs can be covered with adhesive-backed paper; or spray painted, or just left plain white. Waxed milk cartons are also usable, though these do not take too well to spray paint. Make a darling trellis to train ivy or other vining plant with sticks from frozen treats. Wash and dry sticks; lay out in a trellis pattern; glue at points where sticks intersect. Paint and plant this in soil for plants to grow on.

Baskets, painted or left neutral, hold flowers and flowering plants as though they were made for each other. Line baskets with sphagnum moss or foil before use. Discarded muffin tins, painted and shined-up, make cute planters for cacti and small succulents. Since cups have no drainage, water in small doses to avoid soggy roots. You can fill halves of egg shells with soil for seed starters, write out instructions, put seeds and how-to papers atop, and wrap the works in plastic film. Nice for shut-ins.

Hanging planters can be made of such mundane (inexpensive) items as coat hangers, embroidery hoops, jars, bottles, boxes of wood and plastic. It takes a little glue, and a little more imagination, but the wherewithal for attractive new planters is right around your house.

The American Legion

For God and Country

By Dale L. Renaud
National Commander
The American Legion

Veterans programs once again have become the target of budget cutters in the Congress and the administration. As a result, some of this country's most vulnerable citizens are in jeopardy of losing urgently needed health care, and every citizen, veteran and non-veteran alike, will end up losing money.

More than that, the credibility of this country will be in peril as it breaks yet another promise to the men and women who have selflessly served their nation in a time of need. How are we to explain that to a new generation of Americans who one day may be called upon to defend their country?

In September, members of the Senate and the House of Representatives voted to restrict the availability of medical care for the nation's oldest, poorest and sickest veterans. This was done in the name of fiscal responsibility, but the plan is a national disgrace. As we watch "experts" in Congress and the administration congratulate themselves on the level of proposed cuts they have achieved, the quality of care being delivered at VA hospitals is suffering. Sick and disabled veterans are not receiving the level of care they have earned.

There are more than 28 million veterans in the United States. Of that number, about 3 million are 65 years old or older. By law, veterans in this age group are eligible for medical care at VA facilities on a space available basis. Not only did Congress want to express its gratitude for the service our veterans gave to their country, but also it is clear that health care provided by VA is less expensive than that which is available from private providers through Medicare.

Through a clever and effective disinformation campaign, the administration and others want to eliminate the care those veterans are entitled to. The beneficiaries of this program are not swelling VA's patient rolls. They are not affluent citizens ripping off government health care. The majority of nonservice-connected disabled veterans who use the VA are those for whom all other options have been played. They do not have insurance, they do not have personal wealth. They have two choices—go to the VA, or die for lack of medical treatment.

The truth is that further reductions in the VA budget cannot be tolerated. The percentage of the federal budget consumed by the VA is now so minimal that any reduction will mean eliminating or throttling existing programs.

Now there are new attempts to punish deserving veterans. By less than overwhelming margins, committees in the House and Senate have voted to require an income-level test for nonservice-connected disabled veterans who seek VA health care. In other words, these people would have to prove that they are poor enough to be treated by the government they served.

It seems odd that Congress would require a means test now. For years The American Legion has been requesting from the Veterans Administration a patient profile to see just who is in VA hospitals. That profile has not been provided. How can Congress consider implementing a means test without first seeing who these people are? A profile would give lie to the myth that the users of the VA system are veterans who could well pay for their medical care elsewhere. These veterans are not greedy, grasping parasites. They are mostly poor, sick people who have no place else to go.

In addition to the means test, Congress would also require that veterans with insurance pay nearly $500.00 as a deductible, and have the insurance company pay what it would ordinarily pay for civilian medical care.

This would be a serious departure from the present universally followed practice of health insurance providers to deny benefits for care given in federal institutions. The impact on each and every citizen could be enormous.

A veteran who has no intention of ever using a VA hospital (only 10 percent of the nation's veterans use the VA for health care) will still find his or her insurance rates increasing to cover the costs of this unexpected population of beneficiaries. Members of veterans' families will also find coverage higher. Insurance companies, if they are forced to comply, will have to issue new policies to each and every customer, and it would be understandable if they decided to share the financial burden.

cial burden of caring for veterans with all of their policyholders.

But, the problem is much deeper than higher insurance rates. The issue is whether the country will break faith with its veterans and try to balance the federal budget on the backs of the men and women who left their homes and families to help keep the nation free.

The recognition of veterans' special contributions — and unique rights and privileges — was nowhere better stated than by Supreme Court Justice William H. Rehnquist in a landmark decision of the high court affirming veterans' unfettered right to petition the government.

"Veterans have been obliged to drop their own affairs and take up the burdens of the nation, subjecting themselves to the mental and physical hazards as well as the economic and family detriments which are peculiar to military service and which do not exist in normal civil life," Rehnquist wrote in the May 23, 1983, decision.

"Our country has a long standing policy of compensating veterans for their past contributions by providing them with numerous advantages. This policy has always been deemed to be legitimate."

Subjecting these veterans to the maze of bureaucratic paperwork and regulations which will accompany the new rules will discourage many of them from even trying to obtain medical care. They have already fought for their benefits. We cannot in good faith force them to fight again for what is already theirs.

We want what is just and fair for our veterans. Restricting access to critical health care that they have earned through their service is neither just nor fair. Singling out veterans to be the only federal beneficiaries who must bear the burden of providing payment for their benefits is a cruel policy.

ELEVATOR BANKRUPTCY WATCHCARE

Recent years have seen more and more grain storage elevators or warehouses go broke without warning to farmers whose crops are in their custody as a part of the sales process. Only too often, many farmers have been left holding the bag with no certainties ahead with respect to recovering their losses or reclaiming their grain.

And because grain elevator failures have escalated during the economic recession surrounding most farm commodities, farmers are cautioned to watch for certain telltale signs of financial troubles before upending their trucks at dockside to entrust the fruit of their annual labors to others' hands.

Today all grain elevators and warehouses dealing in public grain storage or buying are subject to federal or state licensing as one means of protecting their customers from some of the most common pitfalls that could bring on bankruptcy proceedings. Yet, many licensed elevators or warehouses may have symptoms of impending financial troubles which can and should be looked at carefully and independently by farmers before farm crops are deposited at those facilities.

Currently the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce handles licensing for approximately 100 such operations over the state, and federal licensing covers about 80 more primarily in river port locations that handle grain for overseas shipment.

Several reasons that are easy to understand head the list of reasons why such facilities go under in times of economic stress. Near the head of the list are those that have resisted change—such as letting the years pass without providing adequate storage capacity, or the most modern loading and unloading facilities, or the best site choice with respect to transportation.

Then there's inadequate financing of the facility, especially in view of increasing capital investment costs as they deal with regulations of OSHA, EPA, and other government regulatory agencies. Also, creditors may not always provide the financing needed for compliance.

Inland elevators that must rely on truck or rail transportation instead of cheaper water transportation may be the first to feel competitive stresses.

Also, crop failures may cramp producers' ability to deliver needed crops already sold on forward pricing contracts and cause severe financial pressures for storage and buying facilities. Then, poor management and speculation that backfires may be the additional sources of poor performance and the ultimate downfall of the unit.

Usually there are telltale signs that farmers can and should watch for before consigning their crops to such facilities.

A grain farmer should be concerned if the elevator or warehouse or buyer pays too much for the grain and more than the competition. If free storage, drying, or handling is offered, they may be offered to cloak deeper problems.

If discounts for excessive foreign material, moisture or damaged kernels are ignored, then wariness should be in order—or if the farmer is encouraged to leave money there on interest, or is offered premiums for delayed payment.

Other less subtle problems might be a request that the farmer hold his check for several days or accept a post-dated check. Receipt of a bad check is pretty conclusive. But also the farmer should be ultra wary if the facility offers to take the warehouse receipt with a promise to pay later, or urges use of delayed pricing or a deferred payment agreement.

Farmers can greatly reduce their risk of loss at this final stage of the game by dealing only with licensed and bonded elevators, warehouses, or buyers and expect a receipt for the grain just as soon as it has been delivered for storage.

These and other common sense assessments of the situation can help reduce the number of farmers put into tailspin when they depend on others whose behind-the-scenes stability isn't what it is supposed to be.
